*Build thee more stately mansions, O my soul,
As the swift seasons roll!*

Leave thy low-vaulted past!

Let each new temple, nobler than the last,

Shut thee from heaven with a dome more vast,

Till thou at length art free,

Leaving thine outgrown shell by life's unresting sea!

FOREWORD

"Rooted and built up in Him."

Faced with problems of reconstruction in this postwar period, these words fill us with our only hope. We have secured peace, but is peace secure?

Eastern Nazarene College is preparing us for a life of service. The keystone of our success lies in growth. In the new wing to Munro Hall we have evidence of advancement. Plans for the future building program assure us of a finer and better college.

Material progress is one-sided without growth of character. Accordingly, we have chosen as our theme the chambered nautilus which symbolizes growth in its entirety.

We are privileged in having as our Alma Mater an institution built upon a solid foundation. We have become laborers together with God. Let us therefore take heed how we build. "For other foundation can no man lay, than that is laid, which is Christ Jesus."

Dr. Samuel Young

D E D I C

To one who has always discerned our needs and with keenness of insight helped us to solve our problems.

To one who has been ever kind and of a tender spirit, yet essentially reserved.

To one who is both scholar and professor, from whom we have caught an enthusiasm for our tasks.

To one who is a soul winner and carries a great burden for all students.

To one whose strong sense of humor has proven an asset in understanding our faults. To a champion of justice whose motto has been: "Give them TRUTH to build on."

To one who always inspired us with timely, stirring messages.

To our great builder of Eastern Nazarene College, Dr. Samuel Young, our beloved president and constant friend, we dedicate this 1946 Nautilus.

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

The College Yearbook belongs to the entire student body, but in a special sense it is the heritage of the Senior Class. I direct my message especially to them, knowing that what is appropriate for their day of graduation is timely for all of us.

Seniors of 1946, you are that vital part of E.N.C. now to be transplanted into the work-a-day world. The ideals and goals of this college can only be perpetuated and extended as this is done beyond the campus confines in life itself.

Eastern Nazarene College has not endeavored to give you an answer to all of the problems of life; but she has endeavored to give you a small working capital and depositum of truth so that you can go into business for yourself in the world of ideas. She has endeavored to show you that there is a revelation of God in the Word—both written and Living—that is the basis for all our reckoning and pursuits.

There is a spirit to Eastern Nazarene College which I trust you have caught—a spirit of sincerity and humility, that takes seriously the implications of the divine words for personal and social living, "Be ye holy, for I am holy." It is the spirit which asserts that "a man's life consisteth not in the abundance of the things which he possesseth" and believes unhesitatingly that true greatness can only be achieved in a life of service rendered in a spirit of selflessness.

The prayers and best wishes of the entire faculty follow you, that your life may be truly representative of Eastern Nazarene College.

They left their homes and their college campus to put on the uniform of their country. The world around—Italy to Okinawa, Corregidor to Tokyo—they faced the hazards of air, land, sea. They suffered loneliness, monotony. They braved prison, faced enemy fire. They kept faith with us, with their country, and their God.

ALUMNI

Representing the many alumni who have gone out from E.N.C. to be builders of a better world are preachers, missionaries, teachers, social workers, service men and nurses.

Each has proven God's faithfulness whether in building a church from a handful of members and an unfurnished room—leaving the security of home to serve God in a heathen land—radiating in the school room the spirit of Christ—reaching all types of children with sympathy and understanding—serving the country in various branches of the armed services—or ministering as "angels of mercy."

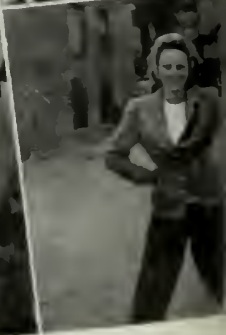

Here we are presenting E.N.C.'s faculty at home. Attending a small college provides the opportunity of enriching our experience by personal contact with our professors and their families. Students appreciate the home-like atmosphere imparted by the presence of children at various gatherings throughout the school year.

FACULTY

A U T

Dear Diary:

The new year started with a bang—and by “bang” I mean the rough and tumble job of moving from dorm to dorm, mingled on Rush day with the howls of old students entreating new students to join their society, not to mention the squeals and tremors of initiation, and the tedious, but reasonably profitable, wait in E.N.C.’s bread-line every day at noon. Nor is social life neglected, what with midnight snacks, field trips, society breakfasts in the snap of an Autumn morning, and Friday night programs with visitors as interesting as Howard Goding, the pianist. . . .

Navy Day! A sentimentalist might have been excited to see and feel the powerful Navy ships—and I was! Old man winter, dripping icicles from his beard, brought not only snow for me to shovel for spending money, but the Christmas party with the chubby Santa (in character), and the beautifully inspiring Messiah, and the general intensity and fun and foiling of the Senior "Sneak". . . .

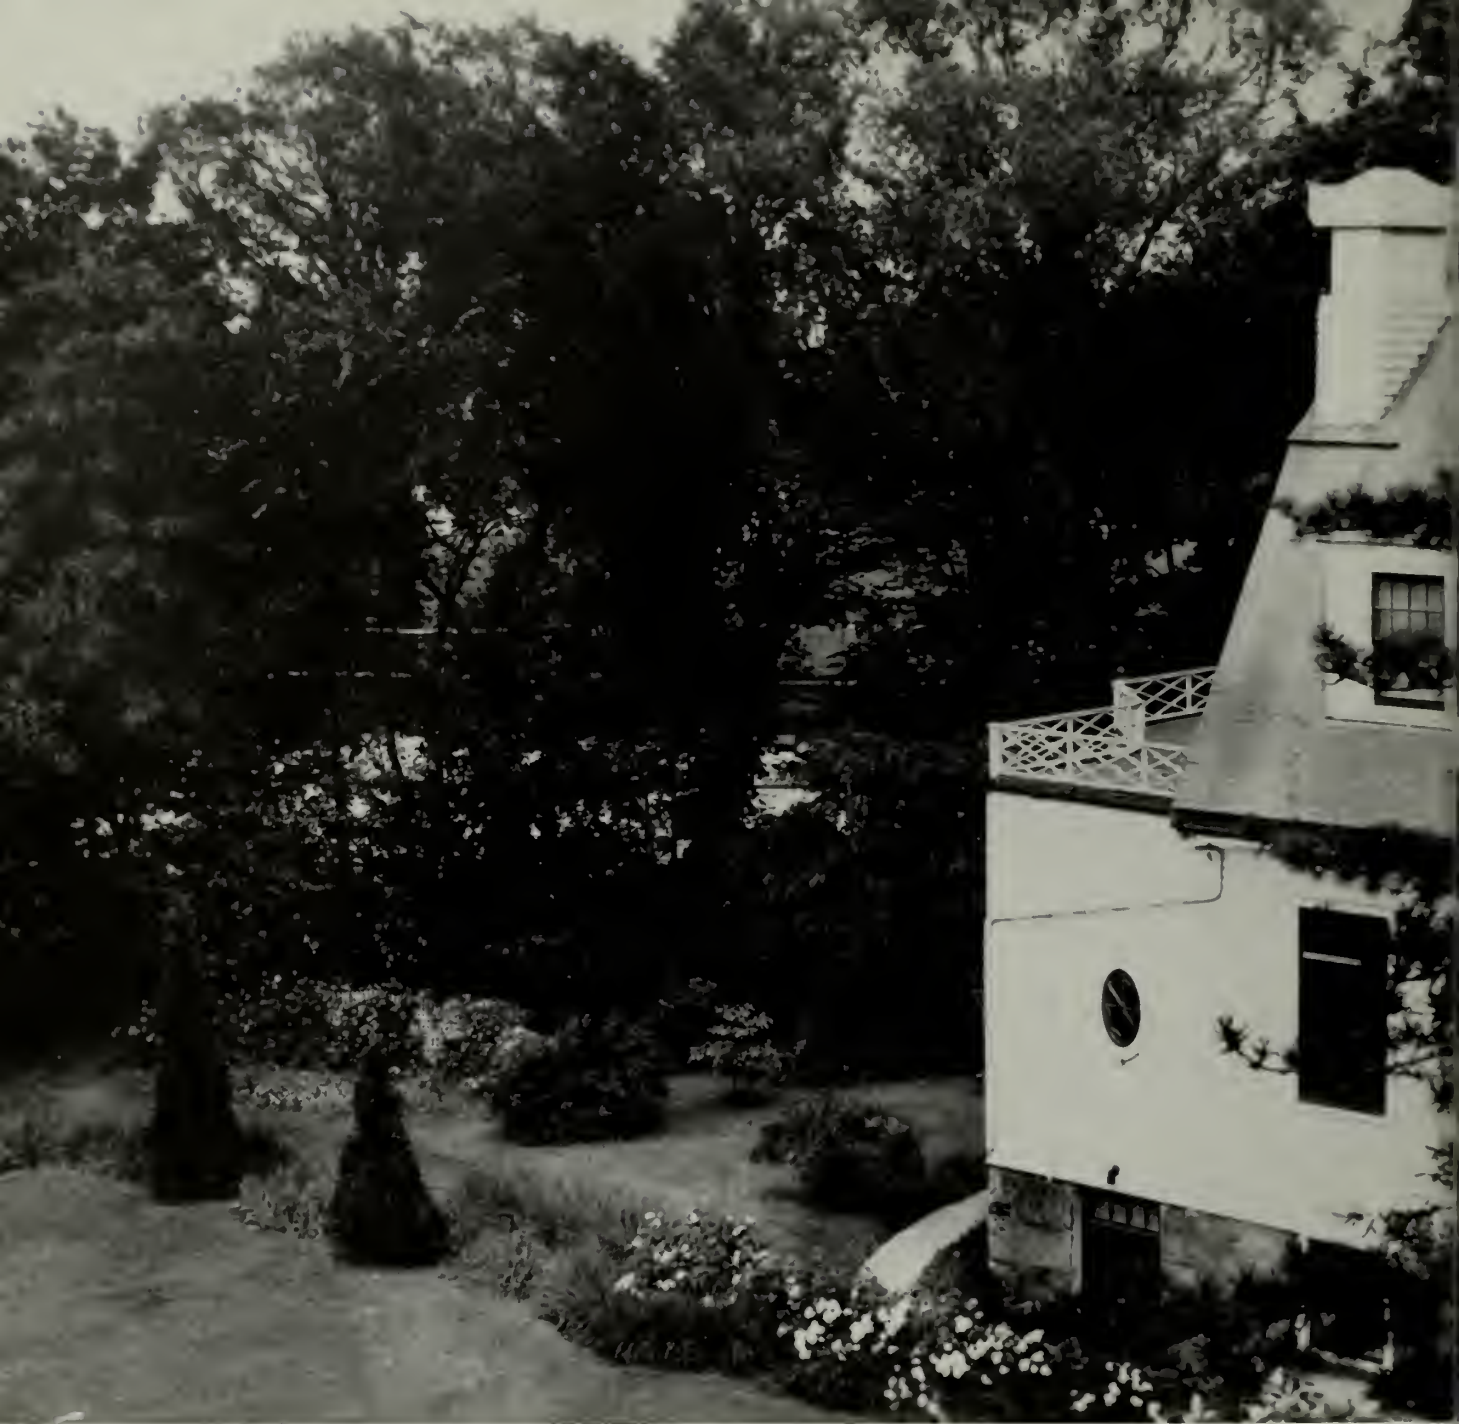

Sweethearts? Of course!—in their best regalia gracing the decorated gym for the grand St. Valentine party. Later we had the dedication of the new wing. Naturally, the Seniors have been stewing about comprehensives, but not enough to spoil clean, constructive enjoyment of Campus Day. Then came the short weeks packed with fun—Junior-Senior Day, Spring fever, and ah, yes—examinations and "open-house" of commencement. Of course I want to go home, but somehow it's disappointing to have to say goodbye to Seniors and to school.

Co-ordination of the student body and the administration for the purpose of creating better understanding and greater co-operative effort has been the aim of the Student Council under the leadership of Wallace Dixon, student body president.

This year the Council was given the responsibility of allotting one chapel program every two weeks to student organizations. Two main contributions were the "Hall of Presidents," presenting large portraits of E.N.C.'s four former presidents to be hung in the lobby of the Administration Building, and a permanent filing cabinet system for Student Council records and constitutions of student organizations.

Activities, faithfully directed by Peggy Dunlap, included the annual fall party, Christmas banquet, and Valentine party.

The chambered nautilus is a symbol of progress. Progress is the result of persistent, directed, diligent labor. Progress requires a vision.

We at Eastern Nazarene College are enjoying the results of God's working in the past. We are eyewitnesses of His power in the present. We have a vision of what God will do in the future, if we lend ourselves whole-heartedly as builders of His kingdom.

Today's E.N.C. is not as Yesterday's. Tomorrow's E.N.C. must not be as Today's. "Build thee more stately mansions, O my soul."

Your 1946 Natutilus symbolizes E.N.C. going forward with God. "Forgetting those things which are behind and reaching forth unto those things which are before, we press toward the mark for the prize of the high calling of God in Christ Jesus."

C A M P U S

Endeavoring to keep the All-American rating given by the Associated Collegiate Press, Editor Joe Biscoe, aided by his capable staff, has succeeded in giving us a Campus Camera of which we are duly proud.

Joe is to be commended for his promptness and his originality of ideas, well illustrated in that cheery Christmas issue.

Vernon Curry's "Seek Ye First" inspired us to live more Christlike. Edward Dell's "History in the News" gave a concise analysis of world affairs. "All in a Day's Work" by Patricia Herrshaft told of life from the student employee's viewpoint. Wallace Dixon's Candid Camera added a spice to the paper. Professor Spangenberg, the staff's faculty adviser, kept us up to date on E.N.C.'s men in the Armed Forces by her column "Our Servicemen Write."

GREENBOOK

BARBARA GREENE

Editor

The Greenbook of 1946, annual publication of the freshman rhetoric classes, has a distinctly religious emphasis, its theme being, "Building the Church of Tomorrow." The students have considered themselves builders of this future church which has Christ as its sure Foundation. The themes, features, snapshots, and art work reveal how every phase of college life can be an aid in developing stalwart Christian character, and ultimately, the church of tomorrow.

In accordance with the theme, the staff has dedicated the book to our college pastor, Dr. J. Glenn Gould.

The editor of the Greenbook, Barbara Greene, was assisted by Robert Goodnow, business manager, and a large staff.

SIGMA DELTA ALPHA

"Launch Out With The Alphas" was the theme for Rush Day, and a majority of the newcomers decided to board the U.S.S. Alpha. Speeches—The rush to the gymnasium! The "Good Ship Alpha!" The society band! A score of persuasive voices! And finally the ship was launched with a substantial crew on board!

A sturdy and enthusiastic crowd pulled in to an island in Merrymount Park for an early morning breakfast. Plenty of good food and a merry time of singing was enjoyed while the crew watched the sunrise over the bay.

"And Be Ye Thankful" was the theme of the Friday night program given during the Thanksgiving season.

In all activities, programs, athletics, society meetings, and even in the lighter moments of social life, a desire to keep Christ first has pervaded.

The Alphas are Sailing On!

The officers were: Myron Richey, president; Paul Lockhart, vice-president; Florence Mitchell, secretary; Virginia Greene, treasurer; Roy Slick and Louise Brown, athletic directors; Paul Andrews, chaplain; and Mervel P. Lunn, faculty adviser.

SIGMA DELTA BETA

A red and white information booth in the Administration building lobby . . . red ribbons with silver B's . . . an artistic wishing well in the gym . . . Rush Day atmosphere . . . forty-three new signatures on the coveted roll . . . friendliness, fun and fervor. The Beta Society has completed another year successfully.

Under the capable direction of Vernon Curry, president, and Jean Thorne, vice-president, the Betas presented "A Glimpse of Home" as a Friday evening program. Favorite melodies and an old-fashioned "hymn sing" were featured.

Other officers for the year included Ruth Bass, secretary; Ellis Horton, treasurer; Paul Yamada, chaplain; and Professor Babcock, adviser.

A welcome note from Sigma Delta Gamma greeted each new student in the fall, and on Rush Day they all were invited to board a huge balloon and "Rise high with the Gammas." The first goal the society reached was the football championship. One morning, late in the fall, the campus awoke to the aroma of an appetizing breakfast that the Gammas were cooking in the grove. In November the society presented "Green Pastures," a program of the Psalms in music and reading. These activities exemplify the main drive of the Gamma society—a friendly participation in wholesome recreation and a delight in the Christian way.

WHO'S WHO

Membership in the WHO'S WHO AMONG STUDENTS IN AMERICAN UNIVERSITIES AND COLLEGES is the only nationwide recognition of outstanding college students. The biographies of the students selected are included in the current volume.

Leaders of business have found that students who distinguish themselves in scholarship and activities usually follow the same pattern after graduation and are thus fitted for leading positions in business and society.

The basis of consideration under which students are selected is character, scholarship, leadership in extra-curricular activities and potentiality for future usefulness to business and society.

An appropriate climax of the student's career, WHO'S WHO sums up all honors scholastic and social, it proves an incentive toward getting the most from college, it is compensation for a student's outstanding achievement, and is useful as a standard of measurement.

HONOR SOCIETY

Exceptional scholastic ability at E.N.C. is recognized by election to the college Honor Society. Announcement of membership is made at the commencement season, and election includes all students who have carried at least twelve hours each semester and have maintained 2.3 quality points per hour, with no grade below B. Students elected to the Society in previous years become associate members.

Every year the Society presents a scholarship to a student whose scholastic rating merits this signal honor. An interesting feature this year was the Box Social at which the central theme was a panorama of various sections of the United States in music, poetry and story.

The officers were: Janet Smith, president; Alberta Cameron, vice-president; Muriel Lanpher, secretary-treasurer.

Third Row: V. Balwit, G. Hutton, W. Dixon, L. Webster, T. Jones.

LITERATURE CLUB

Members of the Literature club enjoyed the best in current literature as selections from and resumes of such best-sellers as Black Boy, Brave Men, Anything Can Happen, and They Were Expendable were included in Club programs. In this way, many were able to familiarize themselves with books of recognized merit, a personal reading of which a busy college schedule often prohibits.

In co-operation with the Speech Club special attention was given to literary recordings, a project which resulted in the purchase of a set for the department.

The officers were: Irene Plant, president; Alberta Cameron, vice-president; and Gloria Dittrich, secretary-treasurer.

Interesting activities of the Music Club this year included attending a symphony concert at the New England Conservatory of Music and a discussion of Handel and his writing of the Messiah.

The club presented Howard Goding, head of the Pianoforte Department at the New England Conservatory, as guest pianist at the Friday night program on October 19, 1945. As a project the club plans to help pay for new musical equipment for the college.

The officers were: June Hamilton, president; Pauline Douglas, vice-president; and Louise Webster, secretary-treasurer.

SPEECH CLUB

This year the Speech Club purchased some much-needed models for use in studying the vocal mechanism. Plans were also made for the purchase of an observation table.

The Club programs for the year included a series of an interpretative nature, with members participating in the representation of literary productions. A Christmas party, a corrective program, the presentation of a guest artist, an analysis of records and the study of manners concluded the activities of this group.

The officers were: Juanita Thorp, president; Anna Mae Keffer, vice-president; Audrey Ward, secretary-treasurer; Miss Dygoski, adviser.

LAS ESTRELLAS

Whether or not members of the newly organized Spanish club live up to their ambitious name (The Stars), all agree that the study of Spanish is a splendid means toward a better understanding between the republics of North and South America.

Realizing this fact, the club planned programs concerning the customs and culture of Spain and Latin America. Las Estrellas are striving to be Good Neighbors by seeking to understand Spanish-speaking people through their language and literature.

The officers are: Professor Rothwell, faculty adviser; Miss Payne, president; Floyd Flemming, vice-president; Alverda Kinney, secretary; Carol Mills, treasurer.

Featured on the program of the Historical Society this year were talks by overseas veterans, relating their war experiences and describing the countries in which they had served. The president, Paul Kirkland, fought in the European theater of war. One meeting was devoted to a discussion on "Compulsory Military Training." The proximity of historical Boston to E.N.C. enabled the members to visit the Frigate Constitution, Bunker Hill, Old North Church, Paul Revere's home, and similar places of interest.

Other officers of the club were: Joe Biscoe, vice-president; Marilyn Emery, secretary-treasurer; and Professor M. P. Lunn, adviser.

HISTORICAL SOCIETY

BOWNE PHILOSOPHICAL SOCIETY

The Bowne Philosophical Society was organized and is perpetuated to encourage persistent, coherent thinking about life's greatest and truest values. All activities of the society are directed to serve the mind in its incurable curiosity; its restless quest for truth. During the first semester members reflected on such important subjects as: "The Teaching of Philosophy in a Holiness College," "The Sub-conscious in Conversion," and "The Psychological and Philosophical Interpretations of Conversion." Membership more than doubled. The second semester was devoted to a project known as "The Drama of Philosophy," with famous philosophers "speaking for themselves" through members of the society who represented the great characters in the dramatization.

The officers were: Grant Cross, president; Charles Muxworthy, vice-president; Janet Smith, secretary; Laura Jane Boyd, treasurer; and Professor Mel-Thomas Rothwell, adviser.

PSYCHOLOGY CLUB

Mental telepathy, palmistry, analysis of handwriting, hypnotism, optical illusions, these and other problems of vital interest to modern psychologists, were analyzed by Dr. Shields, adviser, and the members of the Psychology Club at their monthly meetings.

Experiments illustrating the principles involved in Psychological study were instrumental in proving the old adage "Seeing is Believing or Disbelieving."

This year's club was led by William Lutton, president; Erlaine Weaver, vice-president; and Judy West, secretary-treasurer.

The Biology Club's first objective has been to encourage whole-hearted, purposeful activity to provide experience in the application of biological principles to life.

Interest in biological craftsmanship has incited members to further develop work begun in the laboratory. Their program under the able sponsorship of Professor Babcock included sixteen projects, such as: special laboratory techniques, charts, collections, models, and educational and instructional unit displays. This year the club has joined the Science Clubs of America.

The officers of the club were: Virginia Greene, president; Jean Thorne, vice-president; Peggy Congalton, secretary-treasurer; and Ruth Boyd and Muriel Lanpher, council.

A CAPPELLA CHOIR

Following tradition, the A Cappella Choir presented Handel's Messiah at Christmas. Grace Unstead, Elizabeth McFarland, Mrs. Esther Williamson, Robert Clifford, and Home Smith were soloists, and Mrs. Olive Marple was pianist. Their spring recital was a rendition of the Psalms.

The officers were: Jay Patton, president; Ellis Horton, business manager; June Hamilton, secretary-treasurer; Paul Moore, librarian; and Professor Esther Williamson, director.

THE MIRIAMS

The Miriams, all-girl choir, was organized a year ago to utilize the surplus talent among the girls. At Christmas time the Miriams assisted the A Cappella Choir in singing two choruses of The Messiah. They also sang for various special occasions throughout the year and presented a spring recital.

The officers were: Frances Rogers, president; Anna Mae Keffer, vice-president; Betty Gracey, secretary-treasurer; and Evelyn Davis, librarian.

FUTURE TEACHERS' ASSOCIATION

This year with an unusually large membership, the Future Teachers' Association, sponsored by Professor Groves, has carried out several interesting projects. These included pictures about typical American children and their teachers—real teachers working at the job of education for a better America.

Mrs. Rothwell, an enthusiastic and successful teacher, was guest speaker at an evening's program and inspired her listeners to use all opportunities to become the best teachers possible.

Other activities included study programs and visits to surrounding schools for educational observation. Officers of the club were Eunice Grosse, president; Beulah Bowen, vice-president; June Hamilton, secretary; Eleanor Emery, treasurer; and Helen Marta, librarian.

"Jesus, confirm my heart's desire
 To work, and speak, and think for Thee;
 Still let me guard the holy fire,
 And still stir up Thy gift in me."

Charles Wesley

The Student Ministerial Association has endeavored to look beyond the routine of college-life, and to analyze the perennial pastoral problems that will confront members in connection with their high calling. In addition, the fellowship enjoyed at the annual outing will afford pleasant memories.

Members will not soon forget Dr. Gould's reminder, "We are to be shepherds, not sheep-dogs"; Dr. Owen's timely suggestions on proper ministerial conduct; or Professor Rothwell's insistence that passion and vision are imperative for an effective ministry.

The officers this year include: Jay Patton, president; Grant Cross, vice-president; and Robert Sawyer, secretary-treasurer.

PAUL ANDREWS
President

The Evangelistic Association was formed to foster the spirit expressed in II Timothy 1:6-7: ". . . Stir up the gift of God which is in thee . . . of power, and of love, and of a sound mind."

Its two hundred members were divided into groups which participated in services in neighboring churches, Boston missions, hospitals, and prison farms. Street meetings, canvassing, and visiting the sick afforded ample opportunity for personal evangelism.

The officers were: Paul Andrews, president; William Taylor, vice-president; Janet Smith, secretary; Roy Carnahan, treasurer; and Dr. G. Frederick Owen, faculty adviser.

N. Y. P. S.

The N.Y.P.S. has proved to be a vital part of life at Eastern Nazarene College this year. It has given opportunity for expression to many students and has proved a means of encouragement and blessing to all who attend.

Activities of the year began with a "Singspiration" given by the Society as a Friday night program. Series of meetings which followed included such vital subjects as adjustment, the Bible, prayer and precious promises.

Missionary offerings, distribution of flowers to shut-ins, and Christmas caroling by a chorus of 227 voices are a few of the other activities of the N.Y.P.S. this year.

The important thing is that God has met with us, and the Society remains dedicated to the purpose of serving Christ and His church.

REVIVALISTS

We have been most fortunate during the past year in the evangelists who have ministered among us under the joint auspices of the College and the local Church. At the opening convention in September we were blessed by the ministry of Rev. Lauriston J. DuBois, General Secretary of the Nazarene Young People's Society. In late October Rev. Lyle Eckley, Superintendent of the New York District, came to us for our fall revival and was greatly used of God. In February Dr. H. Orton Wiley, President of Pasadena College, served us as the Gould Memorial Lecturer and evangelist in our midwinter revival; and a revival indeed it was. Each of these men proved to be God's appointee for his particular responsibility; and for the faithful ministry of each of them we thank God.

COLLEGE QUARTET

There are thousands of people throughout the Eastern Educational Zone who, when they think of E. N. C., think of male quartets. For years at least one quartet has spent the summer vacation touring from church to church and attending assemblies and camp meetings. More recently the quartets have assisted in financial campaigns and have been in demand at Youth for Christ services, revival meetings, church and anniversary services. The "Crusaders"—Hawk, Davis and the Andrews brothers—have traveled many thousands of miles, have given unstintingly of their services, and have contributed much to E. N. C. and the upbuilding of Christ's kingdom.

EDWARD S. MANN

The girls of the House Council were privileged this year in having their picture taken in the beautiful parlor of the New Wing. Under the able leadership of Anna Mae this year's council has been unusually active. According to custom, they planned for Open House and were instrumental in leading the girls' prayer meetings each night. The annual party for girls proved to be a most delightful fashion show with original hat creations displayed by faculty wives.

This busy little group of monitors has undertaken a new assignment this year—the supervision of study in Munro Hall. As a result, efficiency and quiet has been maintained during study hours and after hours. Last but not least were the gifts which they gave to the girls who were ill.

Jack Maybury and Bob Sawyer proved busy and capable monitors in the boys' dormitories.

"N" CLUB

RICHARD HAWK

President

The "N" Club is responsible for fostering athletics at E.N.C. Membership into this organization is based upon outstanding athletic ability, sportsmanship, and Christian character. A maximum of five girls and five fellows are elected. Realizing the need for more girls' sports the club in collaboration with the administration purchased field hockey equipment. The "N" Club has also taken over the responsibility of society athletic equipment. Plans are under way to provide a built-in trophy case in the foyer of the administration building.

The officers of the club are: Richard Hawk, president; Louise Brown, vice-president; Jean Thorne, secretary; Vernon Curry, treasurer; and Professor J. R. Naylor, adviser.

GIRLS' HOCKEY

Something new this year! The girls have added hockey to their sports' list, and although some are quite adept at this game already, the majority have little but enthusiasm with which to work. Since the game was organized very late in the season, no society games were played. However, Peggy Dunlap has done a splendid job of organizing and teaching all three societies. Although hockey is ordinarily played only in the fall, the girls will also play a little in early spring, and it is hoped that another year will bring some exciting competitive games.

Kneeling: Roy Slick

With the exception of "Bill" Summerscales, the star of last year's team, the Alphas started the year with a veteran club. With fast forwards like Dick Hawk, "Dead eye" Gordon Stanley, and J. C. Dixon, the Purple and White had plenty of scoring punch and were always in the ball game. At center, Slick alternated with Muxworthy who gained the title "the most improved player of the year." All-stars Richey and Abersold held down the guard positions. With six good reserves in Akers, Grant, McIlwain, Stiefel, Matthews and Dodge, the Alphas were a tough team to beat, but lost the championship to a powerful Gamma team.

ALPHA BASKETBALL

Freshman Eileen Albright, a great scoring forward, teamed up with veterans Esther Anderson and Betty Lee Turner to give the Alpha girls the best offensive drive in years. At guard, Coach Louise Brown, Ruth Boyd, Christine Hardy, and Doris Aslin rounded out an excellent Purple and White squad. Newton and Haywood were outstanding reserves.

E. Albright, E. Anderson, R. Boyd, L. Brown, D. Aslin, V. Balwit, R. Haywood

W. MacKay, D. Hathaway, H. Olson, G. Carlson, F. Domingues

The Beta boys team was strengthened greatly by returning servicemen, Bill MacKay and Steve Nease. MacKay and Howard Olson produced some nice pass work and were noted for their exceptional defensive play. Nease aided the team by his fine work under the basket and by consistently retrieving the ball off the backboard. Frank Domingues and Kenneth Schubert were fast-breaking forwards and the adroit shooting netted most of the Beta scores. Glenn Carlson and Dudley Hathaway saw considerable action at the guard position.

BETA BASKETBALL

The Beta girls were led by Muriel Lanpher. Jean Thorne played stellar defensive ball at guard. Sarah Brickley and Patricia Herrschaft helped to break up many offensive plays of their opponents. Mary Jane Fike and Juanita Thorp turned in a commendable season as forwards. Muriel Lanpher with her speed, deception, and proficient shooting, was responsible for most of the Beta scoring. Ruth Corrie, Ruth Bass, and Gwen Mann alternated at guard. Peggy Christenson and Luella Clemens were capable forwards.

M. Fike, P. Christianson, G. Mann, M. Lanpher, P. Herrschaft, R. Bass, J. Thorne

D. Reed, K. Fulmer, H. Parry, J. Scott, R. Goodnow, P. Clark, W. Ardrey

The Gamma team enjoyed a very successful season under the leadership of John "Bullet" Scott. The fast pace set by Reed and Scott and the unerring aim of Fulmer and Parry kept the opposing teams on the defensive, and as a result, every game was a fast and furious struggle for the ball. Clark, Cross and Goodnow, the three tallest, were always on hand to "tilt" the rebound balls into the basket. Excellent passing and teamwork created a smooth, fast team.

GAMMA BASKETBALL

The Gamma girls seemed reluctant to let the fellows surpass them in winning games this season. A fast team plus a lot of good passing continually put the opposite teams on the defensive. Even when the odds were against them, they forged ahead with a dogged determination that won most of their games. The two Emerys, Swenk, Pepper, and M. B. Harris worked some fast plays to keep up the scoring, aided by guards, Dunlap, Weaver, Newell and Smith, who did a good job of blocking the opposing team's basket.

Second Row: J. Dorothy, E. Emery, J. Smith, P. Dunlap, A. Roth, M. Emery, E. Weaver
Front Row: V. Schollenberger, M. Pepper, A. Swenk, J. Bauer, M. Cornell

ALPHA

The Purple and White came up with one of the best teams in years, but were hampered all season by injuries. Last year's all-star backfield of Hawk, Slick and Richey were sidelined most of the season. However, this gave freshman recruits Gordon Stanley and Bob Burchell a good chance to break into the Alpha backfield. With Paul Lockhart and Eddie Dell at ends and Bill Abersold at center the Alphas had the best line in the school. George Andrews, Al Steifel, Bert Grant and Vic Matthews gave the Purple and White plenty of reserve power.

*Second Row: R. Slick, G. Stanley, M. Richey, R. Burchell.

Second Row: P. Smith, D. Hathaway, G. Carlson Front Row: M. Burkhart, K. Schubert, E. Horton

The Betas, led by their triple-threat star Bill MacKay, completed one of their most successful seasons of the past three years.

MacKay was a constant scoring threat with his accurate passing. Paul Smith and Frank Domingues were a pair of speedy, rugged ends and were especially adept at snatching MacKay's passes.

Vernon Curry was a capable center and an outstanding defensive player. Kenneth Shubert and Dudley Hathaway did a splendid job of blocking in the backfield. Marvin Burkhart and Glenn Carlson proved to be dependable substitutes for the Red and Gray line.

BETA

GAMMA

The Gammas, it seems, have done it again for the fifth successive year. Passing their way to victory after victory, they remained undefeated and untied for the season. With "Red" Parry on the passing end and Cross on the receiving end of the ball, they again fought their way down the field to bring victory for the Gammas. Fulmer and Clark, assisted by "Buller" Scott and Reed, also made some victorious drives and Campbell was a valuable substitute. Co-operation was the key word to the success of the team.

Nazarene youth are accepting the challenge of this age with courage and faith.

Young men and women in increasing numbers are presenting themselves for Christian service.

Pastors, missionaries, teachers, doctors—these we must have to fulfill our God-given mission.

Surely E.N.C. has been lifted up by the hand of God for a time like this.

THE CHURCH BEAUTIFUL

A Practical Study
in Church Architecture

By John R. Scotford

$3.50

"Nowhere else in the field of church architecture and worship has so much practical wisdom been compressed into so brief a space. . . . It faces problems which every church must face in building or re building, and presents solutions which seem, to the reviewer, to be architecturally right, psychologically sound and of the highest importance in the conduct of public worship.

"It excels in its marvelous illustrations.

"The pictures are not only works of art in themselves, but each one teaches a lesson on some salient point of architectural wisdom."—Albert W. Palmer, Chicago Theological Seminary Register.

A. Our new catalogue on Church Furniture and other supplies for the church has just come off the press. At the bottom of this page you will find a few of the hundreds of items listed in this booklet. A copy will be sent to you free upon request.

B. The window shown at the left was recently made and installed in the Natick Baptist Church of West Warwick, Rhode Island. It contains the names of all the men and women who served in World War II.

Write today for your copy of our new catalogue on memorial windows and how they are made.
